Catholic Jesuit school member on this from Creighton University, they have the language in here, this has nothing to do with that issue. I am going to support the override and would encourage everyone else to do so. And as in my first session, about whether we should have gynecologists be a primary care physician, I listened to a woman, I encourage the body to do the same on this bill and let's override this.

SPEAKER KRISTENSEN: Senator Schimek, you have roughly three and a half minutes.

SENATOR SCHIMEK: Thank you. And thank you, Senator Hilgert. I had no idea what you were going to say, but I'm glad that I gave you some of my time, thank you. I would like to read the letter from Mary Scherling, because it was very heartfelt and I think she meant for it to be used, if it would be helpful to this issue. And she says, "I am writing this letter as if it is from my 18-year-old daughter, Andrea Marie Scherling. She was 18 when she was found dead February 5th of this year. 'Dear Governor, My name is Andrea and I died in my sleep February 5th. I died of myocarditis, an inflammation of the heart. I was seen in the emergency room in the well-known hospital in Lincoln that is supposed to be leading in heart conditions. That is what my mom thought anyway when she took me there when I had left jaw, left arm pain, I could not open my jaw, I had burning and pressure too. My pulse was 42. My mom told them about our family history of heart conditions. My first cousin died nine years earlier from the same condition that I had. I just did not know it. After I died my mom asked for a chart review and the supervisor told her that the doctor that saw me did not even document in the chart about our history of heart conditions that affect young people. Did they take us seriously? Did they see me as just another stressed out teen, even though my mom was fearful that I would die just as my cousin did?' Mary goes on to say, 'You are probably wondering why I am writing this letter to tell you about my wonderful daughter. It is to encourage you NOT to veto the Women's Health Initiative Bill.' This was written to Governor Johanns. 'We need to do research for young women. The medical profession needs more data about this type of heart condition. It is rare, but how many more could be saved? Mayo Clinic is very interested in our family. My aunt, my sister, and now my daughter have been affected. Only my
